

Plaridel

A Philippine Journal of Communication, Media, and Society

August 2014 • Volume 11 • Number 1

Media and the Diaspora

Issue Editors: Joel David

Violeda A. Umali

i A Note from the Editors

Joel David

Violeda A. Umali

Articles

1 Living Through the Parameters of Technology:
Filipino Mothers in Diaspora and Their Mediated Parenting Experiences

Ma. Rosel S. San Pascual

29 Mediated Health: Interrogating Health-
Promotion Campaign Messages for Filipino
Household Service Workers in Hong Kong

Jan Michael Alexandre C. Bernadas

47 At Home Elsewhere: The Transnational
Kapamilya Imaginary in Selected ABS-CBN
Station IDs

Earvin Charles B. Cabalquinto

66 Koreanovelas, Teleseryes, and the “Diasporization” of the Filipino/the Philippines

Louie Jon A. Sanchez

86 Mainstream Care Work Films: A New Filipino
Genre as an Assertion of Contemporary History

Brian Saludes Bantugan

102 Phantom Limbs in the Body Politic:
Filipinos in Foreign Cinema

Joel David

128 Bamboo Gods and Bionic Boys: A Brief
History of the Philippines' B Films

Andrew Leavold

Open Issue

173 Breaking News or Breaking the Newspaper?
Print Journalists, Online Journalists and Their Medium-Based Loyalties

Edson C. Tandoc, Jr.

Reviews

193 Feeling Objects and Fearful Symmetries

Daphne-Tatiana T. Canlas

Documents

199 GAWAD PLARIDEL LECTURE 2013

Jose F. Lacaba