Cover Design

In this day and age, creating connections can just be as easy as a blinking eye. Creating ways in the progress that defies the barrier we call, distance. Humans, as naturally social beings, adapted living in the virtual domain. Leading us to expand our capacity to develop relationships, extend our expressions and emotions, and foster ability to create a new world—even to an alternate reality.

About the Artist

Dale Magsino, a self-taught freelance artist from Alabat Island, Quezon. Post pandemic, they've been active in participating in art bazaars and gallery shows in Manila. Dale's works play on emotions and experiences both observed and expressed. Art is their medium to communicate inner personas their organic body cannot. They are currently open for commission graphic design works and teaching art to kids on the side.
