

ARTICLES

Asian Ghost Film vs. Western Horror Movie: Feng Shui
Tilman Baumgärtel

A Ghostly Feminine Melancholy: Representing Decay
and Experiencing Loss in Thai Horror Films
Alessandra Campoli

Haunted Thailand: The Village as a Location of Thai
Horror
Chanokporn Chutikamoltham

Thai Horror Film in Malaysia: Urbanization, Cultural Proximity and a Southeast Asian Model
Mary J. Ainslie

Contemporary Malaysian Horror: Relational Politics of Animism and James Lee's Histeria
Bogna M. Konior

The Return of the Repressed: Pemuda and the Historical Trauma in Rizal Mantovani's Jelankung
Anton Sutandio

Critical Pleasures: Reflections on the Indonesian
Horror Genre and its Anti-Fans
Meghan Downes

Lost and Found: The Found Footage Phenomenon
and Southeast Asian Supernatural Horror Film
Katarzyna Ancuta

Alien Abjection Amid the Morning Calm: A Singular
Reading of Horror Films from Beyond Southeast Asia
Ju-Yong Ha and Joel David

INTERVIEW

The Dreamlike Languor of the Supernatural:
An Interview with Dodo Dayao
Bogna M. Konior

The Invention of Lao Horror Film:
An Interview with Mattie Do
Patrick F. Campos

Plaridel

A Philippine Journal
of Communication,
Media, and Society

Locating Southeast
Asian Horror Cinema

KATARZYNA ANCUTA
PATRICK F. CAMPOS
Issue Editors

Plaridel

2015 • Volume 12 • Number 2

Plaridel

A Philippine Journal
of Communication,
Media, and Society

2015
Volume 12 • Number 2

Locating Southeast
Asian Horror Cinema